Arrested for Forgery.

Mr. W. H. Nicholson, Jr., from over in West Virginia, was in the city Thursday afternoon and saw a man in the crowd whom he has been wanting for some time to see. The man was another man from West Virginia named S. H. Bradley. Mr. Nicholson alleges that Bradley signed some papers contracting to have an oil well drilled and that he signed the names of other people to the contract, claiming that he was authorized to do so. Nicholson The manufacturer's representative drilled the well and afterward the men whose names had been placed upon the paper refused to pay their share of the

GRAND BANQUET.

The Wheelmen's Athletic Club Gave a Grand Spread.

The latest organization of bleycle riders in the city is known as the Wheelmen's Ataletic Club and has not had a very long life, but the members are all very much in earnest in their work, and arm showing up favorably with many obler organizations. They have fust lately occupied rooms in Buell hall over Dyste's drug store, and have them furnished in elegant style. There s an elegant Brussels carpet on the floor and heavy oak furniture adds to the completeness and comfort of the rooms. There is also a complete line of athletic paraphernalia of every description, which is much enjoyed by those so fortunate as to be members of this organization.

The Club gave an elegant banquet and entertainment to the members and a few invited guests Friday evening in their rooms. The spread was served by Braun and guests who were present at the banquet of the Elks, the eevning before and at his one also are quoted as saving that the banquet of the Wheelmen exceeded in elegance anything ever before seen in this city. but was continued until Saturday There were over a hundred persons who enjoyed the spread and all unite dence of an important witness. in saying that everything was the aeme of elegance.
